TWO ARE KILLED IN AUTO DISASTER

William H. Peck and Ernest Zell, of Alexandria, Victims.

A DEADLY CROSSING.

Second Time in the Past Few Years That Life Has Been Lost at This Dangerous Point.

The second frightful accident during the past few years at Hume's crossing on Mount Vernon Avenue, about two miles northwest of Alexandria occurred shortly after ten o'clock yesterday morning. On the first occasion Thomas E. Dulany, a colored barber of this city, had his life crushed out in the twinkling of an eye, his buggy having been struck by an incoming train of the Washington and Ohio Railroad, and th e second was the killing of William H. Peck, a prominent Alexandria merchant, and Ernest Zell, who was in an automobile with him, both having been killed by being struck by a backing train on the same road shortly after ten o'clock yesterday morning.

This latest accident was one of the most frightful which has occurred in this vicinity for a long time, and the details are appalling.

The machine was driven by Mr. Peck, the owner, and it was hurled a distance of ninety-five feet. Mr. Peck was pinned beneath its wreckage, while Mr. Zell was thrown a distance of sixty-five feet.

Zell was killed instantly. His skull was crushed, and a hole was torn in the side of his head. The body of Peck, pinned beneath the wreckage, was horribly burned when the gasoline tank took fire following the accident, and burned the machine, leaving nothing but a mass of charred iron of the large touring car.

The train was brought to a stop 115 yards from the point where the accident occurred, and the train crew went back to give what assistance they could. The automobile was found to be in a blaze, ten feet below the tracks of the railroad. A fire extinguisher was used by the train crew in subduing the fire, in order to get to the body of Peck. G. A. Hatton, of Alexandria county, pulled the body from the debris. The crew then discovered that Zell, who was thrown sixty-feet, had met instant death.

The pilot of the combination car, which was the end that struck the machine, was reduced to splinters, and the debris was scattered along the tracks for a considerable distance.

Forrest Crook, flagman of the train, who was standing on the front of the car when the collision occurred, was hurled some distance, but escaped with a few minor cuts on the leg.

J. W. King, of St. Elmo, Alexandria county, who was an eye witness to the accident, says the occupants of the machine were unable to see the approach of the train owing to the embankment at the point where the accident happened.

The train was on its way to Alexandria from what is known as Bluemont Junction, and the engine was No. 2. Its crew was composed of C. H. Darley, engineer; Lee Crockett, conductor; Lewis Smith, fireman, and Forrest Crook, flagman, all of Alexandria. There were comparatively few passengers in the coach at the time, and all were men. They were unaware of the nature of the accident at first, although most of those in the car knew that the train had struck something. As soon as the train stopped they got out and went to the scene of the accident.;

Engineer Darley stated that at the time of the accident his train was going about fifteen miles an hour. He said he blew his whistle four times for a crossing, and the signal for the station, he stated, was also blown. Although he said he felt a jar, the first intimation he had of the accident was the smoke and fire from the machine.

Dr. R. J. Yates, acting coroner of Alexandria county, arrived on the scene a short time after the accident and viewed the bodies and looked over the scene of the accident, after which he empaneled a coroner's jury, composed of the following: John Gary, N. V. Clayton, George W Wells, H. H. Powell, J. E. McPherson, and R. F. Green.

The jury looked at the bodies and inspected the scene of the accident, and adjournment was taken by the acting coroner until 4 o'clock this afternoon. The jury will meet at Demaine's undertaking establishment, where the inquest will be held. The testimony of the members of the train's crew, together with several other witnesses, will be heard.

The bodies of the two men were removed to Demaine's and prepared for burial.

Mr. Peck and his companion, Mr. Zell, left Alexandria only a few minutes before they met their death. It had been their custom almost every Sunday to take a day's automobile trip, and yesterday morning they had started for Washington, intending to go to some near-by place in the country to spend the day.

News of the accident soon spread throughout Alexandria, and during the day hundreds of people visited the scene and looked upon the debris. Even before the bodies of the unfortunate men had been removed several hundred persons had gathered about. Numerous amateur photographers were on hand.

The railroad people yesterday afternoon held an investigation of the affair. This took place at the Alexandria office of the company, and was conducted by Superintendent Emmert.

The crossing where the accident occurred is regarded as one of the most dangerous in Alexandria county. On the south side of the tracks there is an embankment about fifteen feet high, and there is also considerable elevation on the west side. This makes it next to impossible for the driver of a vehicle going north to see an approaching train.

The question of getting the railway company to place a watchman at this crossing was taken up by the Alexandria Automobile Association at a recent meeting, and the secretary was instructed to write a letter to the railway company. This was done, but no action, it is said, followed A second letter was then sent.

William H. Peck was thirty-eight years old, and one of Alexandria's leading retail grocers. He also was in the coal and wood business. He leaves two young sons. He was a native of Fairfax county, but had lived in Alexandria most of his life. Mr. Peck had accumulated large realty holdings, having built the majority of the houses in the section of the city where he lived.

He carried heavy life insurance, which is said to consist of $5,000 accident insurance, and $20,000 ordinary life.

Mr. Peck was a member of Alexandria Lodge No. 758, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, and also of Tent No. 2, Knights of Maccabees and Columbia Steam Fire Engine Company.

Mr. Zell was thirty-five years old and besides his wife, leaves five small children. He was a carpenter, and at the time of his death was employed as a packer at the plant of the Old Dominion Glass Company. He lived at 705 north Payne street, Alexandria. He was a member of James W Jackson Council, Junior Order of United American Mechanics, and members of that organization will attend the funeral.

Mrs. Zell, at the time of the accident, was visiting at Glencarlyn, Fairfax county. She reached home at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, completely prostrated at the news of the accident.

Mr. Peck's funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock from Sharon Chapel, Fairfax county, and will be conducted by the Rev. S. A. Wallis, of the Theological Seminary. Mr. Zell's funeral will be held at 4:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon from his residence, 705 Payne street.

A lodge of sorrow will be held by Alexandria Lodge of Elks tonight at 8 o'clock to take action on Mr. Peck's death. The funeral services tomorrow will be under the auspices of that order.

NOTICE Jr. O. U. A. M.

CORFSPONDENT IS REVEALED

Armstrong Divorce Case Places Well-Known Actress in Limelight.

DEFENDANT GUILTY.

Miss Catherine Calvert Named by Plaintiff—Leading Woman in Armstrong's Productions.

New York, Sept. 8.—With the granting of a decree of divorce by Justice Weeks to Mrs. Rella Abell Armstrong from Paul Armstrong, the playwright, the name of the co-respondent is revealed for the first time. She is Miss Catherine Calvert, leading woman in "The Deep Purple," "A Romance of the Underworld," and "The Escape," all written by Armstrong.

Mrs. Armstrong's suit was tried before J. Hampden Dougherty, as referee, for which reason the testimony was sealed and even the name of the co-respondent was kept secret.

The referee found the defendant guilty of improper conduct with Miss Calvert, and this action was confirmed by Justice Weeks.

Armstrong and Miss Calvert each made a vigorous defense of the charges, but Mr. Dougherty decided that they were guilty of misconduct on the steamer C. W. Morse, on a trip to Albany, at the Yates House in Syracuse, and in Armstrong's apartments in West 57th street.

The referee recommended the payment of $15,000 a year alimony to Mrs Armstrong, and this the court also approved. Justice Goff recently signed an order directing Armstrong to pay $1,500 in arrears of alimony awarded pending the outcome of the suit. He was then said to be in California. Miss Calvert is advertised to appear at an early date in this city in one of Armstrong's plays. Her right name is Cassidy.

After listening to the testimony of several witnesses produced by the defendant and co-respondent to disprove the charges made by Mrs. Armstrong, the referee expressed regret that he was compelled to uphold the charges made by his wife. Mr. Dougherty, in his report to the court, said:

"A deplorable aspect of this case is that it involves a young woman apparently at the outset of a professional career. But the conclusions I have drawn are virtually forced by the testimony and documentary evidence.

"The contrary conclusion that these intimate relations were innocent, that Mr. Armstrong was a sort of hero and benefactor who had given Miss Calvert her start in the theatrical world, the evidence does not justify me in reaching."

Mrs. Armstrong's allegations concerning her husband and the actress covered the period from January, 1911, until the filing of the suit. She made further allegations in regard to her husband's conduct with other women whose names were not mentioned.

The principal witness against the playwright was Raoul Ancinelli, who was discharged as chauffeur for Mr. Armstrong on the complaint of Miss Calvert. The referee said he was much impressed with the chauffeur's testimony.

The Armstrongs were married in 1899 in London. They have three daughters, the oldest of whom is 13 years old. The divorce decree gives the custody of the children to their mother.

Armstrong is 43 years old and Miss Calvert is 22.

OPENING OF THE SCHOOLS.

Young People Gather to Resume Studies for the Session.

There were busy scenes enacted about the rooms of the public schools of Alexandria early this morning, a large number of scholars coming early being eager to commence their school year and start their studies. The teachers were on hand bright and early to take care of the pupils as fast as they arrived and were busy as bees assigning the m to the desks they are to occupy and arranging their classes so far as possible for the first day of the school year.

The children of the lower grades were mostly pleased to come back to school and on every face could be seen an expression that denotes pleasure and happiness. The pupils were just as pleased to see their teachers again, as were the teachers to get back to their work.

Several new faces among the teachers will be seen this year, as the board made several new appointments to the teaching staff of the Lee and Washington schools.

As the work of today was confined mostly to getting the scholars to their places and arranging for the seating of the pupils little real work was engaged in. The morning session was short, the scholars being dismissed at 11 o'clock for the day. The afternoon classes will also have a short session.

Quite a number of belated colored children put in an apearance at the Lee School this morning and made application to Superintendent Sweeney for permits to attend school.

On account of the very crowded conditions of the school rooms this year most of the teachers will have large classes. In one room there will be almost 80 scholars. Even with the additional room that was formerly occupied by the Kindergarten, there is a scarcity of space for the number of pupils that are enrolled for this school year.

With the closing of the schools last June there was a total of 1228 pupils enrolled. This year the number has been increased almost 200, the number of scholars all ready enrolled reaching almost 1400 white pupils, with 450 scholars enrolled in the colored schools.

MURDER MYSTERY.

Dismembered Body of Young Woman Found in Hudson River.

New York, Sept. 8.—Officials of two states, New York and New Jersey, yesterday united to solve the mystery surrounding the murder of the young woman, part of whose dismembered body was found in the Hudson River Friday near Woodcliff, N. J., and to bring her slayer to justice.

Further evidence that dismemberment had been used in an attempt to conceal murder was found yesterday afternoon, when two Erie Railroad detectives discovered the lower half of the victim's trunk floating in the Hudson near the New Jersey shore opposite Forty-second street, Manhattan. Like the upper part of the torso, which was first found, the lower portion was wrapped in a pillow case and brown paper.

It is believed the victim was Emma Zimmerman.

The police believe that the girl was murdered in this city, that her body was dismembered somewhere here and that the packages containing her remains were taken up the Hudson and then thrown into the water.

The lower part of the body bore out the first conclusions of the examining physicians that the slain girl was between 20 and 30 years of age, of beautiful figure and exquisite skin. She was of light complexion and light hair and weighed apparently between 120 and 130 pounds.

The pillowcase wrapped around the part of the body today was of fine quality, and on it the initial "A" had been worked by hand. The quality and work indicated that the case had apparently come from a home that contained pretty things. This confirmed the belief that the victim had been a girl of refinement.

That portion of the body found yesterday extended from the upper abdomen to the upper thighs. A preliminary examination by County Physician King, of Hoboken, indicated the girl would have become a mother in a few months.

Dr. King said last night that he was sure the young woman came to her death through septic poisoning or chloroform.

CHARGE AGAINST WM. H JEROME

Will be Arraigned to Answer For Playing Poker.

NOW IN SPOTLIGHT.

Report That New York State's Attorney is to be Shot —Bitter Feeling Against Him.

Coaticook, Quebec, Sept. 8.—Since Harry K. Thaw has bowed to the ultimatum of his battery of lawyers that he spike his publicity bureau, William Travers Jerome, special deputy attorney general, representing New York state in the Thaw case, almost monopolized the spotlight today. Jerome was due here from Montreal at noon, and his trial on the charge of common gambling, in playing poker for money, is set for late today. Judge H. V. Mulvena, of Sherbrooke, will preside.

Feeling is bitter here against Jerome, due largely to the newspaper references to the former prosecutor as Thaw's "Nemesis." Authorities professed to take as a joke the wild rumors that Jerome might be attacked. One report had it that the coterie of Thawites who caused Jerome's arrest, had planned to shoot him in the court room.

No greater excitement has been shown since Thaw was first jailed here, than was manifested in Jerome's case today. The gambling charge against the New Yorker was continued until September 11, when he failed to appear Saturday, but during the night it became known that Jerome, in Montreal, had been in telephone communication with Crown Prosecutor Nichol, and asked that the case be heard today.

Jerome's counsel made an effort to have Judge Mulvena, of Sherbrooke, hear the gambling case because, they said, Judge McKee, of Coaticook, is prejudiced.

Thaw is in the immigration detention room at the railway station. His lawyers have assured him that they can prolong his case for another six months, and that he eventually will be freed if he will keep still and not issue statements.

GOV. BLEASE IN WASHINGTON.

Fiery South Carolinian May Visit Here Wednesday.

Governor Cole L. Blease, of South Carolina, is a visiitor to Washington, as he is a delegate to the Red Men's Convention in that city. He will, if his engagements permit, pay a visit to Alexandria on Wednesday. Yesterday the Governor and Mrs. Blease were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Schwarzmann, and Mr and Mrs. Lorenzo Wolford, of this city, on an automobile ride around Washington.

According to reports they found the Governor the very best of company and not so untamable as South Carolina newspapers make him out to be. The Governor does not mince words however and makes his meaning perfectly clear. His Alexandria hosts were present during a picturesque interview that the Governor had with a Washington newspaper man, during which he said:

"I would just as soon turn the switch that sent a negro into eternity by the electric route if that negro had killed a friend of mine, as I would lynch a negro here in Washington if he had attacked a white woman. But I hope there will not be any lychings in Washington."

President Wilson, Governor Blease declared, is using every influence he can command and every bit of South Carolina patronage to defeat the governor for the United States Senate, but the South Carolinian insists that nothing can beat him.

"I am going to be elected to the United States Senate in spite of the administration," said Governor Blease. I have been campaigning in the State all summer, and I tell you right now, I am going to win.

"As for President Wilson, while I am a Democrat, I am ashamed to contemplate that the President is the only man who ever sat in the White House who advised that his countrymen should run away from danger that threatened their property or their lives. Washington did not do it, and no other great American has ever done it. If there were any one other than Wilson in the White House, we should have long ago had peace in mexico and made Huerta come to terms."

RED MEN HOLD GREAT COUNCIL

Alexandria Tribes to Attend Sun Session in Washington.

REPRESENT 44 STATES

Street Parade Abandoned — Next Meeting Will be Held in San Francisco or Denver in 1915.

One hundred members from the two tribes of Red Men of this city, will go to Washington tomorrow night to participate in the meeting of the 66th annual session of the Great Council of Red Men of the United States, which convened at the New Willard Hotel at 9 o'clock this morning. They will be accompanied by the members of the American Indian Guard band, known as Lone Star Camp No. 1. This band will play several selections.

With Great Incohonee Carl D. Foster in the chair and all the other officers of the Great Council on the platform, the Improved Order of Red Men and visiting Pocohantas opened their Great Sun session.

Delegates to the number of 151 and representing 44 States were present, beside the nine officers of the great council, eleven past great incohonees and more than 200 past great sachems, the latter being allowed a seat in the council, but having no vote. In addition to these there are about 300 women attending the session as Daughters of Pocahontas.

James A. Madison, Jr., the representative of the Red Men of the District of Columbia, and chairman of the local ways and means committee, called the council to order and after a brief address introduced Commissioner Oliver P. Newman, who welcomed the visiting braves in behalf of the District. The Rev. Edgar Carpenter ,of Alexandria, delivered the invocation.

Commissioner Newman was followed by William F. Gude, who represented the Chamber of Commerce, and by Winfield S. Whitman, Great Sachem of the District of Columbia. Mrs. Hallie Martin, of the White Eagle Council, of the District of Columbia, and Mrs. O. J. Nugent, past great prophetess of Kansas, also spoke. The response of the gerat incohonee concluded the morning session.

Washington Red Men who had been planning a street parade Wednesday as a part of the great council, have abandoned the project because Great Sachem Whitman has refused to give it his official sanction. He took this stand after a conference with the ways and means committee, which had canvassed the officers of the great council and found them opposed to such a demonstration.

One important thing to be done is to name the city where the 1914 council will be held. It is generally agreed that the 1915 gathering will be in San Francisco or Denver, on account of the Panama-Pacific Exposition on the coast, so the city selected for next year's council will be in the East, Philadelphia, Boston and several cities in the South all have advocates among the delegates now here and they will present their respective arguments on the floor of the council.

CIRCUIT COURT FOR THE CITY.

The Circuit Court was opened this morning by Judge J. B. T. Thornton, of Manassas, and after reading the docket and setting several cases for trial an adjournment was taken until Friday. The suits of Wm. Desmond and E. C. Richardson against Joseph Hayman, for damages resulting from an automobile accident at the south end of the highway bridge a year ago, were dismissed on motion of the attorneys for the plaintiffs. This action was taken following a verdict for Hayman in a similar suit at the last term of the court. The suit of the Washington Southern Railway against Charles King and Sons was set for November 5th, and that of the Central Metal and Supply Co., against the Emerson Engine Co., for next Friday.

ELKS ENJOY CLAMBAKE

Alexandria Members of Order Join Their Brethren From Washington

Twenty-five members of Alexandria Lodge of Elks, headed by Exalted Ruler James W. Bales and Mayor Thomas A. Fisher, joined the 400 members of the order at River View yesterday and enjoyed the third annual clam bake of the Washington Lodge of Elks. The outing was one of the most delightful that has ever been given in this section of the country and the clambake proper was especially interesting. A corps of cooks and waitermen labored over the menu. There were great barrels of lobsters directly from Rockland, Me.; soft and hard clams, fresh from the briny shores; quantites of fish,, plenty of chicken, corn and sweet and white potatoes,and a great pile of watermelons on ice, which was jealously guarded

Washington Lodge of Elks had engaged an expert and his assistants for the occasion. A cord of wood and three tons of rock were used to make a pyre, and after the rocks had been heated the burn wood was raked from the pile and the clams and other eatables were piled thereon and a tarpaulin thrown over the whole.

After the lapse of an hour the tarpaulin was removed and the Elks gathered around forty tables seating ten persons each. After the dessert, consisting of ice cold watermelons, had been served, all hands boarded the seamer St. Johns for a short trip down the river to Indian Head. The boat reached the Washington pier at 8.30 o'clock.

MOVE AGAINST THE CITY

Alexandria Will Resist Attempt to Change Location of Railroad Office

A hearing of vital importance to Alexandria, as it will mean the question of several thousand dollars annual revenue to the city, will be held in Richmond on next Wednesday morning when the state corporattion commission will hear argument on the location of the principal offices of the Washington Southern Railway which are now in this city. The hearing is the result of a request of the board of supervisors of Alexandria county, who are endeavoring to have Alexandria county declared to be the principal office of the railway company.

Mayor Thomas A. Fisher, Corporation Attorney Samuel P. Fisher and Charles H. Callahan, Commissioner of Revenue, will go to Richmond to represent the city of Alexandria while the county will be represented by Crandall Mackey, Commonwealth's Attorney, and members of the board of supervisors.

At the present time Alexandria, as the headquarters of the railway, receives all the taxes on the rolling stock of the company. The rolling stock is assessed at $226,940, and the taxes this year amount to $4,084.92 Under a new law which has just gone in effect in the state, however, the city where the principal office of railway companies is located will only receive 25 per cent of the amount of the taxes on the rolling stock of railways and the remainder will be distributed among the counties through which the roads operate. Under any circumstances Alexandria will lose approximately $3,000 in revenue from this source after this year, but the city authorities will endeavor to save the remaining $1,000 which will be lost if the country's contention is sustained by the commission.

Smith, his attending physician, said that Holland was unable to explain how he was injured. Holland served in the Confederate army and was a farmer. He lived at Woodbridge, Fairfax county. NEWS OF THE OLD DOMINION.

GASOLINE COVERS PHYSICIAN.

Dr. S. S. Snarr, of Lebanon Church, in Serious Condition.

Winchester, Va., Sept. 8.—Frantic with pain and suffering tortures as the result of a gasoline explosion, Dr. S. S. Snarr, of Lebanon Church, Shenandoah County, was rushed to Memorial Hosptal here early Saturday morning, and is still in a serious condition With a piece of rubber hose Dr. Snarr was drawing gasoline from a tank to supply his automobile. To create suction he put an end in his mouth to draw it through the tube, and in spitting the fluid out, came in contact with a lantern nearby, causing an explosion.

As the hose was jerked from the tank one end struck the physician, throwing flaming gasoline in his mouth and on his neck and face. He literally put out the fire in his mouth by stuffing it with a handkerchief.

A fellow-physician, who was called, found Dr. Snarr in intense agony. Opiates afforded some relief until he was brought here.

TUCKER FOR CONGRESS.

Argued That he is The Logical Democratic Candidate.

Buchanan, Va., Sept. 8.—A committee of the Woodrow Wilson Club of Botetourt county has unanimously declared that Harry St. George Tucker, of Lexington, is the logical progressive Democrat to be sent from the Tenth District to the next congress.

A meeting of the club will be held soon to act on this report, but it is already understood that club members are all for Mr. Tucker, and that he will be requested and urged to become the candidate of the progressives to succeed Congressman H. D. Flood.

The committee has been investigating the sentiment of the county [illegible] that it is unquestionably over[illegible]g for Tucker. They say that he will also be earnestly urged from this county, that he will be forced to consider the matter well, and that he will be compelled to comply if the progressives in the other [illegible] of the district are also for [illegible]. [illegible]ittee's investigations outside county, they say, lead [illegible]elieve that the whole district is for him, and they are hopeful that he will see it to be his duty to become a candidate.

ALLEGED BIGAMIST.

Had Married Thirteen-Year-Old Girl to Avoid Prosecution.

Bristol, Va., Sept. 8.—Soon after his marriage to Sadie Sharritt, a 13-year-old Bristol girl, to avoid criminal prosecution for abduction, a young traveling salesman, who gave his name as James C. Morris, was confronted by a girl who gave her name as Frankie Moore Elliott, who claimed that Morris was her husband and that his name was Elliott, a son of J. W. Elliott an insurance man of Knoxville, Tenn.

The Elliott girl claims she eloped with Morris, alias Elliott, from Johnson City, Tenn., and that they were married in Danville, Ky., in October of last year. The girl pleaded with Morris to go with her, but the officers had him in charge and were preparing to lock him up on a charge of bigamy. He was arrested at the home of the adopted parents of the little girl who had just been made his wife.

Morris will be tried for bigamy. He claims to live in Roanoke, Va. The girl who followed him here tells of other marriages in which he has figured as the bridegroom.

The young man under arrest here under the name of Morris has been identified as J. C. Elliott, son of J. W. Elliott, of Knoxville, Tenn. He will be given a hearing Monday.

VISITED BY MANY FIRES..

Leesburg Section of Loudoun County Suffers Several Losses.

Leesburg, Va., Sept. 8.—This section of Loudoun county has been visited by quite a number of fires lately, and the toll has been quite an expensive one. On Friday of last week, John Ryan, in the Broad Run district, lost a number of bushels of wheat, the fire being caused by sparks from a traction engine. On the same day Hugh Holmes had a wheat stack on his farm near Paeonian Springs struck by lightning and destroyed by fire. On Friday night a new hay barracks, containing about a hundred tons of baled hay, belonging to Westmoreland Davis, was struck by lightning and completely destroyed, in spite of the rain which was pouring in torrents.

There were two other fires last Friday which were visible from Leesburg. One was in the direction of Woodburn and the other was across the Potomac and a good distance over in Maryland. In short, the storm which visited this section did quite a bit of damage, but on the whole this is probably offset by the immense amount of good accomplished by the much-needed wetting.

SHOT BY WIFE.

Young Man of Bluefield is Desperately Wounded.

Bluefield, W. Va., Sept. 8.—Harry Harry, aged 24, was shot and fatally injured here late Saturday night by his wife. Harry, it is said, en route home, happened to meet a neighbor woman on Pulaski street and was talking to her, when Mrs. Harry who, it is said, had been watching him, approached and fired a 38 Smith and Weson automatic at him one bullet entering his side below the ribs and ranging upwards. The other bullet entered and perforated his bowels and stomach, coming out on the other side. Mrs. Harry escaped but officers are scouring the city for her.

Mr. Harry is in St. Lukes Hospital with Doctors Scott and Thompson making desperate effort to save him. It is thought he will die.

NEGRO QUICKLY SENTENCED.

Gets Ten Years in Penitentiary for Second Degree Murder.

Danville, Va., Sept. 8.—William McClelland, a negro, was yesterday convicted of murder in the second degree and sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary for the killing of Jeff Curry, colored, at a brickyard here August 14.

The trial was a record-breaker in the point of swiftness, the entire case occupying but four hours.

McClelland, who comes of a stock with a remarkable criminal record, engaged in a fight with Curry early one morning at the brickyard, during which McClelland seized a brick and threw it at Curry, striking him on the temple and fracturing his skull. He dropped lifeless. McClelland was arrested an hour later.

The negro seemed well pleased at the verdict and thanked the jury profusely.

SNAKE RIDES BEAR.

A Hot-Weather Story From Rockingham County.

Horrisonburg, Va., Sept. 8.—From Spring Creek, Rockingham county, comes the remarkable combination snake-and-bear story.

A party of young people, while camping in the mountains, were startled by the approach of a huge black bear. To their amusement they saw that a huge black snake was nestled on the back of the bear, with its coils around bruin's neck. Fortunately the beast and reptile appeared to be in 'conference", and the frightened young folks hastily retreated to camp.

SHOCK IS FATAL.

Sad Accident to Young Electrician at Danville,

Danville, Va., Sept. 8.—About 10 o'clock Saturday morning Floyd Gibson, twenty-three years of age, employed as assistant electrician by the Dan River Cotton Mills, met a tragic death when he came in contact with a live wire he was attempting to adjust in the mill. He was instructed to cut a wire near one of the windows in the mill, but was told first to go to the transformer house, which was some distance away, and disconnect the current before he attempted to cut the wire. Instead of doing this he directed another employe to disconnect the wire at the motor, which was nearer, and which he thought would answer the same purpose, but it did not, and when the unfortunate young man got into the window and began using his pliers on the wire he immediately received the shock that proved fatal to him. The current passed through his body, causing him to fall from the window to the ground. His death was instantaneous.

Victims of Curious Accident.

Wytheville, Va., Sept. 8. —Mrs. John C. Roper met with a curious accident in front of her home on West Main street about noon yesterday, her ankle being dislocated and crushed. She was standing in the street with a little grandchild in her arms, near an automobile being driven by her daughter, and it is thought the car started, and Mrs. Raper was thrown down by the mud guard and one of the wheels ran over the ankle, inflicting the injury. The child escaped unhurt. Doctors were called in promptly and set the broken limb.

Eight negro convicts, confined in the "dark" cell of Camp No. 3 on the State farm at Harlem, near Richmond, Texas, were smothered Saturday night and four others are seriously ill from the effects of breathing poisoned air. Negligent homicide was formally charged against Sergt. Sid Wheeler and two guards. The 'dark" cell is of wood, about 10 feet long, 7 feet wide, and 7 feet high. Ventilation is supplied by ten air holes, each 1 inch in diameter.

Miss Ada Feingold, aged 20, of Worcester, a patient at a sanitarium, and her nurse, Miss Hazel Crummell, aged 21, of Akron, Ohio, were drowned in Quarter-Mile pond near Stoneham, Mass., yesterday. The young women were out for a stroll, when, according to a boy witness, Miss Feingold leaped into the water. Miss Crummell, though unable to swim, jumped in after her patent, and was dragged to the bottom.

KISSING BIBLES IN POLICE COURTS.

One of our Richmon exchanges says:

How many people have our police court Bibles killed?

These Bibles are shabby, old and greasy and laden with no one knows how many dangerous germs.

Witnesses are required to "kiss the Book" before testifying.

One of the Bibles is handed to a drunken negro man who is reeking with filth. He smears his lips across it. It is passed to a young white woman and she is told to kiss it.

A few people are sensible enough not to kiss the Book. They hold it near their lips with their hands, and kiss their own hands; but a great many press their lips upon it.

Perhaps some witnesses may know that they cannot be forced to kiss these Bibles, but most of them are ignorant of it. They are ordered to "kiss the Book," and they kiss it.

No attempt is made to keep these Bibles clean. No efforts were made to kill the germs which may breed in the crevices of the binding. No thought is given of the terrible consequences which may develop from infections.

The witnesses must "kiss the Book," and when they leave court the responsibility of the court is supposed to end.

But the responsibility of the court does not end.

How many diseases have been contracted from kissing the greasy bindings of these Bibles.

We are told that we must have individual drinking cups and numerous other sanitary articles, but how about kissing a Bible that has been kissed by a thousand people, many of whom are known to have been hideously diseased?

No court on earth has the right to make a person kiss a Book that has been handled by diseased people, and it is the business of health officers to see that the public health is not imperiled.

If these Bibles are not dangerous, nothing is dangerous, and we might as well abolish health offices and forget health regulations.

There are not many thinking men who would dare to kiss these Bibles They would not care to have their wives and children even take them in their hands.

Those who from time to time preside in the police court of Alexandria have called upon parties who testify in cases simply affirm thus relieving them of the necessity of placing to their lips copies of the Bible which have become more greasy than a deck of cards in a Fishtown cookshop. These volumes have been in steady use in the Police Court during the past twenty years or more and are now tied together. They have been kissed by victims of the cocaine habit and in many cases by persons suffering from chronic diseases. Our Richmond cotemporary is correct in all it states concerning this loathesome practice.

"STOP, LOOK AND LISTEN."

Although railroad companies strangely imagine that when they place these words on a post at a grade crossing and where a deep cut obscures view of approaching trains that their obligation is at an end, and when people are ground to death by cars that no liability is incurred by them, a long-suffering people, think different and demand that the grade crossing be eliminated or a watchman stationed at the danger point to warn people who, through business or pleasure, cross the same.

Had such a guardian of life and limb been at his post one Sunday afternoon recently a well-known colored man of this city would not have met a horrible fate, and had such an attendant been stationed at the crossing yesterday morning the lives of two more Alexandrians would not have been snuffed out and the body of one of the victims partially incinerated.

Hume's Crossing will soon be regarded with as much concern as "Dead Man's Curve" in New York if immediate steps are not taken to eliminate the danger at this point. It is a part of Mount Vernon Avenue and is becoming more and more dotted with vehicles daily. It is a much-patronized road by automobilists of both Alexandria and Washington.

While no one will attempt to make apologies for thoughtless people who, unfortunately do not always "stop, look and listen," there is no reason whatever for the railroad company to maintain such a dangerous crossing, especially after such a frightful fatality as that of yesterday. The Automobile Association of Alexandria has endeavored to attract the attention of the railroad company to this menace to live and limb, and the time has come when the community should rise up en masse and demand its immediate obliteration.

FUNERAL OF THOS. A. SPERRY.

Virginians May Share in Big Estate.

Winchester, Va., Sept. 8.—Thomas Alexander Sperry, 49 years old, a native of Winchester, who was the founder of the green trading stamps, in which business he is reported to have amassed $10,000,000 was buried from the family home in Cranfield, N. J., a few days ago.

Mr. Sperry leaves a widow, Mrs. Kate M. Sperry; two daughters, Katherine and Marjorie Sperry, and two sons, Thomas A. Sperry, Jr., and Stuart M. Sperry.

It is probable that Virginia relatives will share in Mr. Sperry's vast estate. Dr. W. A. Bell, whose wife was the multi-millionaire's first cousin, received a telegram announcing Mr. Sperry's death.

Mr. Sperry is survived by three brothers, William and Joseph Sperry, of New York, and Langley Sperry, of Newark, N. J. Mr. Sperry was a first cousin of Misses Margaretta and Nannie Miller, and of the late Mrs. W. A. Bell. He had other family connections in this city.

WILL OPPOSE GORE.

Charles I. Stewart, Former Virginian, Seeks Senatorship From Okla.

Enid Okla., Sept. 8.—Charles I. Stewart, editor of the Enid Morning News, today issued a formal announcement of his candidacy for the United States Senate to succeed Senator Thomas P. Gore, the blind Senator from Oklahoma. Mr. Stewart pitches his candidacy principally upon two issues, the importance of raising the standard of rural life by means of increased farm production, and the opposition to the control of Federal patronage solely to pay obligations and to advance the fortunes of the United States senators.

Mr. Stewart was the original Woodrow Wilson newspaperman in this state, and the aggressive support of his newspaper is largely credited with the state's split delegation to Baltimore when Oklahoma was considered Clark territory.

Mr. Stewart, who is a native of North Carolina, was for several years editor of the Evening World at Roanoke, Va., and later identified with different newspapers at Louisville and Lexington, Ky. He was on the staff of the Public Ledger at Philadelphia while Dr. William Bayard Hale, now figuring in the Mexican situation, was managing editor of that paper.

Roanoke, Va., Sept. 8.—The League of Virginia Municipalities will hold its convention in Roanoke October 14-15.

Arrangements are being made for a splendid program. It is expected there will be a large attendance from cities and towns throughout the State.

A call is being issued by the Roanoke Chamber of Commerce to leading commercial organizations of Virginia to meet with the league and to affiliate with that organization or to form a State board of trade similar to those in a number of other States.

At the league's convention last year several commercial organizations were represented, and numerous subjects were discussed of interest to commercial organizations as well as city officers and councilmen.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Declaring that his idea of the new Department of Labor is that of a "department of industrial diplomacy," which shall bring about the creation of councils for discussion between employers and employees for the settlement of their difficulties, Secretary Wilson last night made the chief address at the labor services held in the Fifth Baptist Church, Washington. "Under present conditions," said Secretary Wilson, "labor organizations are absolutely necessary. Employment is no longer personal, and only through organization can the workers place themselves on a footing approaching equality with their employers. The purpose for which they are formed and the effects which they bring about are criterions by which organizations should be judged. By this standard labor organizations have done more than any other agency outside of the church to better the conditions of humanity."

"Metcalf's comet," which was discovered last Monday, is heading toward the earth at a tremendous speed. The comet was first observed by the Rev. Jiel Metcalf, while he was at work in the observatory at South Hero, Va.

An angry father who objects to the tango, turned an open air party into a near riot Saturday night in Philadelphia, when he pulled his daughter 18 years old, from the arms of a young man, took her across his knee and gave her a sound spanking. The father was Thomas Gavigan and his eyes popped with rage when he saw his only daughter Mary going through the evolutions of the tango with a young man of her own age. Pushing through the throng he grasped her and administered punishment. The spectacle enraged those at the party, and they mobbed Gavigan after rescuing the girl. Policeman Berryman attempted to rescue the father and was roughly handled.

Knocked down by lightning which entered her home at Bridgeport, Conn., yesterday, Mrs. John D. Berger suffered a broken left leg without burn or other indication that she might have been hit. A child in her arms was not hurt. The electrical fluid passed down the chimney and set fire to the house but the flames were extinguished quickly.

Two young men, John Bartel, 23 years old, and William Waller, about the same age, were drowned in the Delaware river at Philadelphia yesterday when a skiff in which they were rowing capsized. Two other men, one Waller's father, were also in the boat, but were saved.

William Henson Reed, 29, one of the best known rivermen in West Virginia, died at a hospital in Huntington Saturday night as the result of swallowing a set of false teeth seven years ago, necessitating an operation from which he never recovered.

William F. Havemeyer, father-in-law of William R. Wilcox, recently chairman of the New York Public Service Commission, was found dead in bed yesterday.

Snow fell early yesterday at Holt, a few miles from Bowie, Ariz. This is the earliest snowfall ever recorded in Arizona, mountain excepted.

Wants $150,000 For Bristol.

Washington, Sept. 8.—Congressman Bascomb Slemp, of the Ninth Virginia District, has announced that he intends to ask for $150,000 for a postoffice building for Bristol, Va., as his share in the next Public Buildings bill. The Virginians are hopeful that the Postoffice Department will uphold them in the contention that a postoffice should be maintained on the Virginia side of the two-state city.

Two persons were instantly killed and four others of the same party were seriously injured yesterday when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a Wheeling and Lake Erie passenger train at a grade crossing east of Fremont, Ohio.

Eugene J. Connelly, of Springs Corners, near Sayre, N. Y., his two daughters, Misses Phoebe and Carolyn, were killed when the automobile in which they were driving was struck by a Lehigh Valley train at Cayuta, about half way between Elmira and Ithaca, yesterday.

Cooler weather during the coming week is promised to the central part of the country by the weather bureau in a bulletin issued last night, but no prospect is held out for relief in the East and South, and even higher temperatures are indicated for the Northwest.

SHOT WHILE HE SLEPT.

Physicians Say The Victim Cannot Recover.

Elizabeth City, N. C., Sept 8.—News was received in this city yesterday from Currituck county, to the effect that Leon White, a prosprous resident of Poyner's Hill, had been found in bed with a bullet wound in his head. He was unconscious when found and according to last reports had not regained consciousness so he could tell what happened. Doctors say he cannot recover.

No revolver was found in his room. White and his wife own considerable property, and it is said they had agreed to have papers drawn up to settle disputes that arose between them.

White went to the Currituck court house last Monday and did not return home until Tuesday. It is believed he was shot Tuesday night while he slept. The police are investigating the shooting and an arrest is expected at any minute.

FIVE MEN ATTACK GIRL.

Four Negroes and White Drive Away Her Escort.

Philadelphia Pa., Sept .8.—Four negroes and a white companion set upon Miss Annie Gill, of No. 2939 Belgrade street, and her escort, Millard Kimball, early yesterday morning, and after driving Kimball away dragged the girl into a vacant lot where they beat her into insensibility. The attack was made near Belgrade and Wittle streets.

According to Miss Gill and Kimball, they were walking along Wittle street when the five men suddenly appeared from the shadows and set upon them. Two of them grasped Kimball while the others attacked the girl. Kimball put up a fight, but realizing the futility of striving against such odds, broke away and ran down Alleghany avenue. There he saw Policemen Hansbury and Campbell on a street car going home from duty.

He called to them and the three returned to the scene of the attack. At the sight of the policemen the thugs fled. The blue coats dashed after them emptying their revolvers as they ran. The four negroes disappeared, but the white man, who gave his name as William Potter, stopped and begged for mercy.

Potter gave his address as No. 2315 Rush street and was identified by Miss Gill as one of her assailants. Potter was given a hearing by Magistrate Campbell yesterday morning in the police station at Belgrade and Clearfield streets and held without bail until the detectives and special policemen who are scouring the city, can locate the negroes.

TROLLEY WIRE SHOCKS THREE.

Boy With Corn-Cob on String, Brings Electricity Down.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 8.—Michael Risto, 9 years old, No. 2629 East Somerset street, tried a new stunt yesterday afternoon and as a result he and two other boys are in the Episcopal Hospital. Michael got a corn cob and a piece of string and a piece of wire. He carefully joined the three articles and then threw the corn cob over a trolley feed wire at Somerset and Thompson streets.

Instantly Michael became rooted to the spot and was unable to let go of the wire. The electric current coursed through the boy and wire. The wire got hot and the boy yelled for help. George Irwin, 17 years old, of No. 3033 Livingston street, and Michael Garaveyzwa, 9 years old, of No. 2633 East Somerset street, ran to aid Risto. They succeeded in pulling the corncob away from the feed wire, but in doing so both received severe burns on the hands. Risto was burned on both hands and about the neck.

All three boys were taken to the Episcopal Hospital .
